THE RALEIGH NEWS.

VOL. XVII. RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, JULY 3, 1880. NO. 98.

NOON REPORTS.

The Bradlaugh Case.

LONDON, July 2.—In the debate in th House of Commons on Mr. Gladstone's motion to allow all elected members to affirm, who claim to do so, instead of taking oath, Sir Stafford Northcote opposed the motion, and moved as an amendment that it be rejected.

Mr. Gladstone, in further support of his motion, said that if a member were admitted to take his seat with the warning that he might be proceeded against in a court of law, the consequence might be an unseemly collision on questions of privilege between the House and courts. At the close of Mr. Gladstone's speech, the House divided on Sir Stafford Northcote's amendment to reject the motion.

The amendment was defeated by a vote of 263 to 349.

Mr. A. M. Sullivan moved an amendment making the resolution moved by Mr. Gladstone prospective instead of retrospective. This amendment was rejected by a vote of 274 to 236.

The resolution agreed to by the government, and moved by Mr. Gladstone, admitting all elected members to affirm who may claim to do so instead of taking oath, was then adopted without a division.

The subsequent motion by Mr. Gladstone that the resolution be made the standing order was also agreed to without a division.

After the Bradlaugh affair had been settled in the House of Commons last night the debate on Mr. Parnell's Irish Relief bill was resumed. Right Hon. W. E. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, announced that he could not accept the measure. Mr. Parnell moved that further debate on the bill be fixed for Saturday next, but Mr. Forster objected, as that day was wanted for the discussion of the Government Relief bill. Mr. Parnell's motion was negatived by a vote of 62 to 22. The House did not adjourn until 3.55 o'clock this morning, owing to the protracted debate on the Bradlaugh question. After the passage of Mr. Gladstone's resolution Mr. Bradlaugh advanced to the table, but immediately withdrew below the bar on an intimation that the resolution should first be made a standing order before he could affirm.

Trouble Brewing.

GALVESTON, July 2.—A special to the News from Austin says that the Governor has been notified that trouble is brewing on the Rio Grande, consequent upon the erection of dams on the Texas side near Brownsville. The Mexican authorities desire their removal, alleging increased current of the river to be forced to the Mexican side, causing great damage. Governor Roberts referred the matter to the authorities at Washington.

A Fort Worth special says, Adam Harman, a prominent stock man, committed suicide near Dido yesterday, by hanging.

A special from Seguin says that a report from Lavernia says that a man named Neeson murdered an old man named Bean, threw the body in a well, rode to Lavernia, called up Dr. McMahon and shot him through the breast. The doctor ran, and Neeson pursued, firing two more shots. He then mounted his horse and fled. Neeson was employed on Bean's farm, and had a quarrel some days ago. Dr. McMahon attended Neeson while the latter was sick.

Ordered to Leave.

LONDON, July 2.—A Paris dispatch says that the religious establishments broken up Wednesday, numbered 39, with 475 members. There remain about 100 which, being educational institutions, are allowed to exist until August 31st. At Chambery two Italian orders, one of men and the other of women, received forty-eight hours' notice to quit France. This measure was taken under the law of 1849, providing for the expulsion of foreigners who were obnoxious to the Government.

Cattle Disease Raging.

LONDON, July 2.—A Cologne dispatch says it is officially announced from St. Petersburg that the rinderpest is raging in forty-three districts on the shores of the Black Sea. The same dispatch reports a great fire raging in Reazan, Russia. Sixty houses have been destroyed, and the flames are rapidly spreading.

A Paris dispatch says it is stated that the Monks of La Grande Chartreuse, manufacturers of the famous Chartreuse Liqueur, will not be interfered with.

Congressional Nominations.

SHAWNEETOWN, ILL., July 2.—The Democrats of the Nineteenth District yesterday re-nominated R. W. Townshend for Congress by acclamation.

CINCINNATI, July 2.—The Republicans of the Fifteenth District nominated General R. R. Dawes for Congress.

MIDNIGHT REPORTS.

Western Floods.

CHICAGO, July 2.—A special from Quincy, Ills., to the Times says the most intense excitement prevails in the country inundated by the breaking of Suy Levee. This embankment protected an extent of country seventy miles long and from five to twelve miles wide. Yesterday fully one-third of this area was under water. The crevasse at Cincinnati landing is a half mile wide and other breaks have occurred. Mr. Tremor and his family who were reported drowned, were saved, but there are others who are believed to have been lost. Horses, cattle and other stock have been drowned in great numbers. Houses and barns swept away and crops destroyed. The State fish ponds near Fall Creek have been obliterated and several hundred thousand fine fish washed out by the flood. No estimate of the damage done by the flood can be made at present, but it is safe to state that the total loss in this locality will be upwards of one million of dollars.

Murdered Her Children.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 2.—Mary O'Connor, 45 years old, living at No. 45 Water avenue, this city, murdered her three children at 2 o'clock this morning, by cutting their throats with a razor. She says she first tried to kill them with a carving knife, but did not succeed. Edward, the youngest, lay in bed with her. She killed him first, and then went to the crib alongside of her bed, in which were her two oldest children, David, aged six years, and Francis four and a half years, and murdered Francis, he being on the side of the crib nearest her bed. Her husband all this time lay on the floor, at the foot of her bed, asleep. He was awakened by the dying struggles of his eldest child. When he saw what his wife had done, he ran out of the house crying. Mrs. O'Connor says she has been sick for a long time, suffering from malaria, and has been unable to take care of her children, and she thought that by killing them they would go to Heaven, and that there was no other cause for her killing them. She was examined by Judge Peloubet this morning, and committed to the county jail.

Liverpool Cotton Circular.

LIVERPOOL, July 2.—This week's circular of the Liverpool Cotton Brokers' Association says: Cotton continues in limited demand and the market, after a slight partial advance, closes generally without material change. Business in American has been small, and better qualities were steady, but low middlings and grades below are reduced 1-16d. Sea Island was in steady request, but holders sell freely. Medium grades of Florida are ½d lower. Futures opened steady and prices gradually hardened until Tuesday evening. The advance was lost on Wednesday, but the market closed steady at last Thursday's rate.

Greece, Turkey and Bradlaugh.

LONDON, July 2.—A Berlin dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette says: The report is confirmed that England and France have agreed each to dispatch a squadron to cruise off the Greco-Turkish coast.

In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Bradlaugh made affirmation and signed the roll amidst silence, and took his seat at the furthest point below the gangway.

The Jesuits.

LONDON, July 2.—The Chief Judge of Lille decided Thursday that he had jurisdiction over the question of the legality of the anti-Jesuit decrees.

GILDERSLEEVE'S LATIN SERIES.

—BY—

B. L. Gildersleeve, Ph. D., Gottingen, LL.D., Professor of Greek in Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Rarely have text-books been greeted with so large a measure of favor and hearty appreciation, as these books by Professor Gildersleeve have received from the best scholastic and educational minds of the country. The author, now of national reputation as a scholar, has had very complete preparation for such a work. After being graduated at Princeton, he studied for several years in the Universities of Germany, where he received his Ph.D., etc., with highest honors. His subsequent life has been devoted to teaching and linguistic study. When the new and richly endowed Johns Hopkins University sought for a fit man for its chair of Greek, the appointment was conferred on Prof. Gildersleeve, after wide conference, and without his solicitation or effort, and his work as senior professor of the University attracts marked attention. He is also the presiding officer of the American Philogical Association.

Prof. Gildersleeve's Latin books are the product of this order of ability and educational training. Embodying the best results of recent studies in Latin philology, they are simple, clear and practical in method.

THE LATIN PRIMER,

complete in itself, a naturally developed course for beginners, at once holds the interest of the pupil, and prepares him thoroughly for ready and intelligent use of Grammar and Reader, or Latin author. It supplies: "Maximum of Forms; Minimum of Syntax; Early Contact with the Language in Mass."

A teacher in one of the leading High Schools of the country, who conducted a large class through this book, writes:

"We have just finished the Primer, having spent upon it thirty-four weeks; and I have been trying to realize my pupils' attitude towards the study, as compared with that of other classes I have known. They have the use of a larger vocabulary; their text-book has secured for them a careful drill in the normal terminations; they have been brought more into contact with the language in the concrete, and have, therefore, a more vivid interest in it; and they have been less perplexed by exceptional forms and difficult construction.

"The book is thoroughly alive, and will perforce make its students so."

THE LATIN GRAMMAR

is marked by its genuine scholarship, clear and logical arrangement of material, and a typography that pleasantly aids the eye. Its presentation of forms is plain and convenient; its definitions, rules and other statements are brief and pointed; and its translations of illustrative examples are most striking models for students.

THE LATIN READER

has Fables and Stories; "De Gestis Alexandri," a most interesting narrative, chiefly from Curtius; one book of Cæsar's "De Bello Gallico," treated in a manner to make it an admirable drill in Latin Syntax; also notes and References to the Grammar, and a Vocabulary.

THE LATIN EXERCISE-BOOK,

a book of Latin Composition, compact in form, is noticeable for its well-graded course of exercises, apt choice of idioms, and adaptation to train the average learner to a thorough mastery of the words and constructions of the language.

Single specimen copies for examination furnished on receipt of the following prices:

LATIN PRIMER, 12mo, 192 pages	$0 65
LATIN GRAMMAR, 12mo, 384 pages	95
LATIN READER, 12mo, 192 pages	70

Every Policy issued by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States becomes "indisputable," after being in orce for three years.

TWENTY ANNUAL PAYMENT LIFE POLICY, WITH TONTINE APPLICATION FOR TWENTY YEARS, CALLED THE TONTINE SAVINGS FUND POLICY.
ESTIMATED RESULTS.

Amount, $1,000; Age, 30; Annual Payments of $30.36.

Total Premiums paid in 20 years, $607.20; Reserve on Policy in 20 years, $467.00; Accumulated Dividends in 20 years, $631.00—104 per cent.; Total cash value in 20 years, $1,098.00—180 per cent.

You pay $30.36 annually for 20 years, and in case of death prior to that period, your heirs wil receive $1,000, which is certainly a very large return for the money paid. If, however, you live to the end of the 20 years, you will have two privileges, either one of which you may elect.

First—Terminate your insurance by withdrawing the total cash value of your Policy, $1,098.00, which is the amount of the reserve and accumulated dividends added together, being equivalent to returning you $180 for every $100 paid, besides your insurance of $1,000 for 20 years.

Second—Withdraw, in cash, your accumulated dividends, $631, which is 104 per cent. of the premiums paid, and besides receive a paid-up policy for $1,000, payable at death, upon which no further premium will be required, but, on the contrary, this paid-up policy will yield annual dividends.

There is no surrender or paid-up value to this policy until the expiration of the Tontine period. Thirty days' grace is allowed for the payment of premiums on this policy, but when taken, a fine or interest, at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, will be required.

It affords me great pleasure in calling the attention of my friends and the public in general to the prominent position now held by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, which I have the honor of representing. To obtain a full and perfect knowledge of the workings of this immense institution, I would respectfully refer you to the examination of the leaflet "Facts," lately published by the Society, and which is in general circulation, but I desire especially now to invite all those who have not yet insured, as well as those who are contemplating additional insurance, to examine carefully the operations of the "Tontine Savings Fund Policy," which are practically explained above. Those of my old friends I take it for granted are sufficiently satisfied that it is to their interest to carry policies of assurance, but there is a large number of young men now coming upon the stage of life who are to take our places, and who will require especially the aid offered by sound and well-conducted Life Assurance Companies in providing against death as well as mature age. To all such is this plan of assurance particularly adapted. Many of these policies which have had a shorter period to run are now maturing, and the results prove that no other plan of assurance can or ever has produced such favorable returns. Is there any young man from the age of 18 to 30 who cannot afford to lay aside every year the small sum of $30.36? This amount will secure a policy of $1,000 payable at death, and it is estimated that it will pay the same amount at the end of the twenty years. In a word, this investment obviates the necessity of a savings bank, because in case of death it accomplishes at once what would require the savings of a life-time.

Who is Your Wife?

A COMPLEX CONUNDRUM COLLOQUIALLY CONSIDERED.

BY WALDORF H. PHILLIPS.

We beg leave to announce that we have published, under the above title, a very novel and remarkable work. It is, in the form of fiction, a humorous and powerful satire on Divorce Laws and their complications. The author takes for his text a proposed new marriage ceremony, thus:—

"Do you take this woman to be your wife—until you are divorced?

"Do you take this man to be your husband—until you change your mind?

"Then, they whom I unite, let some Court put asunder."

The work is full of humor and keen satire; it is decidedly a most original and novel addition to American publications, and it is confidently believed will prove the literary sensation of the year. Price, in paper binding, 50c.; in cloth, 75c. Can be had of all Booksellers and News Dealers, or will be sent, postage paid, upon receipt of the price, by the publishers.

THE DAILY NEWS.

BY P. M. HALE, PRINTER TO THE STATE.

J. L. POLK, CORRESPONDING EDITOR.

SATURDAY.....JULY 3, 1880

DEMOCRATIC ORGANIZATION.

Almost daily during the late Convention, campaign calls were made upon us for the rules adopted in 1872 for the government of the Democratic party. No copy of them could be had or heard of, and there was in consequence much confusion, no little bickering, and some dissatisfaction. It was made very plain that if the party's work was to be done intelligently and its harmony and discipline maintained, the size of the State Convention should be definitely fixed, the manner of electing delegates to it prescribed, and rules adopted for the uniform government of County and Township meetings. All this was urged in THE NEWS of May 20, and again brought to the party's attention on the eve of the State Convention in the shape of an outlined plan of party government. The suggestion met with much favor and was referred to the Central Executive Committee to be put in form for use in the pending campaign. The Committee met on Thursday, and the result of its deliberations is annexed.

ROOMS OF CENTRAL EX. COM.,
DEMOCRATIC PARTY OF N. CAROLINA.
RALEIGH, N. C., July 2, 1880.

In pursuance of authority vested in this Committee, the following rules are this day adopted for the organization of the Democratic party of North Carolina:

COUNTY ORGANIZATION.

1. The unit of county organization shall be the township. In each township there shall be an Executive Committee to consist of five active Democrats, who shall be elected by the Democratic voters of the several townships, and the said committee so elected shall elect one of its number as chairman, who shall preside at all said committee meetings.

2. The several township executive committees shall convene at the meetings of the several county conventions, or at any other time and place that a majority of them may elect, and shall elect a County Executive Committee, to consist of not less than five members, one of whom shall be designated as chairman, who shall preside at all of said committee meetings.

3. In case there shall be a failure on the part of any township to elect its Executive Committee for the period of thirty days, the County Executive Committee shall appoint said committee from the Democratic voters of such township.

4. The members of the township committees shall elect to any vacancy occurring in said committees.

5. The County Executive Committees shall call all necessary county conventions by giving at least ten days notice by public advertisement in three public places in each township, at the court house door, and in any Democratic newspaper that may be published in said county requesting all Democrats of the county to meet in convention in their respective townships, on a common day therein stated, which said day shall not be less than three days before the meeting of the county convention, for the purpose of electing their delegates to the county conventions; that thereupon the said conventions so held shall elect their delegates to represent the townships in the county conventions, from the voters of the respective townships, which delegates, or such of them as shall attend, shall vote the full Democratic strength of their respective townships, on questions that may come before the said county conventions. That in case no convention shall be held in any township in pursuance of said call, or no election shall be made, the Township Executive Committee shall appoint such delegates.

6. Each township shall be entitled to cast in the County Convention, one vote for every one hundred Democratic votes, and one vote for fractions over fifty Democratic votes cast in that township at the last preceding election for members of the General Assembly.

Provided, That every township shall be entitled to cast at least one vote.

7. That for the purpose of fully inaugurating this system the present County Executive Committees shall continue in office until their successors are elected under this system, and shall exercise all the functions pertaining to said office under this system of organization.

8. The chairman of township committees shall preside at all township conventions; in his absence any other member of said committee may preside.

COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

The several County Conventions shall be entitled to elect to their respective Senatorial, Judicial and Congressional Conventions, one delegate for every one hundred Democratic voters, and one for fractions over fifty Democratic votes cast at the last preceding Gubernatorial election in their respective counties. And if any such delegate shall be unable to attend such conventions, he shall be authorized to appoint his own alternate, in writing, approved by the chairman of his County Convention or by the chairman of his County Executive Committee, and none but delegates or alternates so provided for or appointed shall be entitled to seats in said Conventions. Provided that every county shall have at least one vote in each of said Conventions.

The chairman, or in his absence, any member of the County Executive Committee, shall call to order all County Conventions, and hold the chairmanship thereof until the Convention shall elect its chairman.

The Executive Committees of the Senatorial, Congressional and Judicial Districts respectively shall, at the call of their respective chairmen, meet at some time and place, in their respective districts, designated in said call. And it shall be their duty to appoint the time and place for the holding of conventions in their respective districts, and the chairmen of said respective committees shall immediately notify the chairmen of the different County Executive Committees of said appointment; and the said County Executive Committees shall forthwith call conventions of their respective counties in conformity to said appointment, for the purpose of sending delegates to said respective District Conventions.

STATE CONVENTIONS.

1. The State Convention shall be composed of delegates appointed by the several county conventions. Each county shall be entitled to elect one delegate for every three hundred Democratic votes, and one delegate for fractions over one hundred and fifty Democratic votes cast therein at the last preceding Gubernatorial election. In case any delegate shall fail to attend, he may, by writing, signed by himself and attested by the Chairman of his County Executive Committee, or the Chairman of his County Convention, appoint his own alternate; and none but delegates or alternates so appointed or provided, shall be entitled to seats in said convention. Provided, always, that such delegates as may be present at any Democratic convention, shall be allowed to cast the whole vote to which their township or county may be entitled.

2. In all conventions thus provided for by this system after a vote has been cast, there shall be no change in such vote until the final result of the ballot shall be announced by the chairman of said convention.

That all committees shall have the power to fill any vacancy occurring in their respective bodies.

That for the purpose of more thorough organization, the several county committees are requested to place themselves in frequent communication with this committee.

By order of the committee.

OCTAVIUS COKE, Chairman.
J. J. LITCHFORD, Secretary.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Our Northern friends are becoming more and more concerned about the "irrepressible conflict" between labor and capital which threatens. This is not to be averted, as some of their labor philosophers think, "by a total reorganization of labor, in which labor shall fix its own compensation," after the town-meeting system, by the votes of the majority. It takes two to make a bargain and both parties must be free as possible.

What the country sorely needs is a system of just taxation. We cannot relieve the burdens which tend to labor troubles by collecting taxes upon the vast wealth invested in the United States debt. That is beyond reach. But taxes can be reduced hundreds of millions of dollars by returning to free trade; that is to say, by abandoning a tariff system which doubles the cost of a livelihood to the masses for the enrichment of a few without profiting the government. A revenue tariff in the place of our protective and prohibitory tariff would tend more than anything else to reconciling the conflict, for under such a system of taxation the poor would not yearly grow poorer, while the rich become richer.

Give us just and equal laws, such as the country may expect when the government once more passes into the hands of the Democratic party, and the capitalist and the laborer will settle their disputes without the intervention of town meetings or of soldiers. As the Macon Messenger says, "the capitalist must have labor, although his necessities may not be so great as those of the laborer, who must have food, clothing and all the necessaries of life. But the capitalist must accept the risks of the enterprise, and cannot, if he would, allow prices to be fixed for him independently in the production of merchandise, while he cannot fix the prices of his merchandise in the general market. In short, the world must still blunder along as it has done for many generations—doubtless with many a hardship and injustice under any practicable system; but the general system itself must be just. It should impose equal burdens—confer equal privileges and rights. It should leave all to work out their destiny under equal laws; but no action of man can produce equal results. These were apparently never intended by the Divine Ruler of the universe, and were there an equal division of the proceeds of labor every year, some would have plenty and some starve."

The Moore Index announces that "Montgomery county is going to have a county newspaper to be published in Troy. Its politics is to be emphatically Democratic, and a strong effort will be made to redeem the old county from Republican rule and restore it to its former financial standing and respectability."

University Normal School.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

CHAPEL HILL, July 1, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—The Normal School is a great success this year. Nearly two hundred students of the best and most attentive class on hand and new arrivals every day. All happy and working hard. The lectures of Prof. Hotchkiss and of Dr. Kerr, State Geologist, are especially instructive and brilliant. Messrs. McIver, Tomlinson, English, Hatcher, Dugger and Holt are doing excellent work in the common school department, proper, as are Professors Lewis, Phillips, Coble, Pell, McAllister and Bryan in the special classes. Prof. D. McIntyre is teacher of vocal music, Prof. D'Anna having declined his appointment. Miss Long is winning golden opinions in the conduct of her model class. Mrs. and Miss Pollock are creating enthusiasm by their lectures on Kindergarten instruction and practice with their juvenile classes.

Prof. Kerr will lecture Saturday morning on Agriculture, and Prof. Hotchkiss, by special request, will deliver his celebrated lecture on "Stonewall Jackson's Valley Campaign" Saturday night. As a superintendent, the Professor is wonderfully successful. Prof. Shepherd, of Baltimore, will assume the duties of superintendent early next week.

It is admitted on all hands that for serious, solid work and the character and demeanor of the students, this session of the Normal School is the best we have had.

The State Teacher's Association will hold its first meeting to-day at 12 o'clock, President Battle presiding. Various meetings will be held during the session of the Normal School, and topics of educational interest will be discussed.

The hitch about the sale of commutation tickets on the North Carolina Railroad has been adjusted by order of Col. Andrews, and parties attending the school will be entitled to buy return tickets at three cents per mile each way until the close as heretofore. NORMAL.

CHAPEL HILL, July 1, 1880.

Prominent among the attractions of the school is the series of lectures by Prof. Kerr, State Geologist. This gentleman has collected and systematized a mass of information concerning North Carolina which is a monument to his patriotism and pains-taking work. North Carolina does not appreciate Prof. Kerr, because she does not know him. It would be well for the State if every man in it could hear his lectures on North Carolina. You must understand that he talks about nothing but North Carolina. His addresses are full of interest and instruction. From no other source can so much be learned about North Carolina. Perhaps it would not be too much to say that he has done more to make the State known abroad than any man within her borders.

Most people do not appreciate the work of the scientific man. Shall I say it is because of their ignorance? Let us take an example. Prof. Kerr called attention, in his lecture last night, to the fact that the magnetic variation of the needle of the compass is, in some parts of the State, as much as three degrees, equal to a difference of as much as two miles in the location of the county lines of some counties of the State. This error of the compass is repeated on every farm. What a field for law-suits is here opened! You readily see, too, how difficult and expensive would probably be the settlement of such questions. Prof. Kerr stated these facts to a committee of the Legislature, and urged them to pass a bill providing for the publishing, at every county court house in the State, of the error of the needle for that county. He also told this committee that not more than one in twelve, or perhaps one in twenty, of the county surveyors knew anything about this source of error in their surveys. The committee paid no attention to the recommendation of Prof. Kerr.

Much complaint is sometimes made about high taxes. Some even complain of the expensiveness of education. But how much—can you imagine, Mr. Editor—does North Carolina pay for her ignorance? I am glad to see, sir, that you are using the influence of THE NEWS to wake up the people of the State to the importance of education. The politician who fails to give his voice for the free education of the masses is no patriot, however successful he may be in winning the votes of ignorant constituents. He who calls out for retrenchment when the poor call for a pittance to educate their children, is either too ignorant to comprehend the wants of the State, or too corrupt to make an honest legislator. The people—the poor people—ought to call for law-makers who will do something to remove the black cloud of ignorance which hangs over them and obscures their sight. X.

Health of Warrenton.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

WARRENTON, July 2, 1880.

EDITOR NEWS:—I see from your correspondent of June 30th that typhoid fever is prevailing in this place. As Superintendent of Health of Warren county I am prepared to say there is not but one case in the town or in twenty miles of the place.

In the interest of the people of Warren, and of those who may think proper to make Warrenton their summer home I hope you will publish this statement. From statements furnished me by the National and State Boards of Health, I am prepared to say that Warrenton is one of the healthiest places on earth.

Respectfully,
G. A. FOOTE, M. D.

THE new law permitting persons to deal in tobacco to the extent of 25,000 pounds a year by paying a special tax of five dollars instead of twenty-five dollars, will go into effect at once. Internal revenue officials say it will not affect the revenue materially, which never exceeds $100,000 from this class of dealers, but it will aid as a part of the machinery of the department in carrying into effect revenue regulations. It is believed that the new law will cause a material increase in the production of tobacco for the market, as there will be a greater number of small dealers.

Pennsylvania Democrats who come to Washington are enthusiastic over Hancock's prospects in that State. Bets were made yesterday of two to one on Pennsylvania.

The Editorial Gathering.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

ASHEVILLE, July 1st.

Owing to a delay in the arrival of the train only a short session of the convention was held yesterday afternoon, and we all reserved our forces for the evening when, by invitation of the Rev. Mr. Atkins, of the Methodist Female Seminary, a large company assembled in the hall of that institution, which was beautifully decorated with flowers.

General Clingman, in one of his usual happy veins delivered a speech of welcome, in which he accidentally betrayed his age, but he looked so much younger than forty-two that none of us gave him credit for telling the truth when he said he had waited that number of years for the snort of the iron horse, and was the first passenger to cross Round Knob on an engine. President Battle replied in a neat speech of a few moments, when Major Malone, of the city, welcomed the Association on behalf of the press of the place, and was replied to by Capt. Ashe, of the Raleigh Observer, who was followed by the Rev. Mr. Atkins, as representative of the educational interest, who cordially and substantially welcomed us to his special school. Mr. Woodard, of the Wilson Advance, replied to him, after which Mr. Clement Manly, of the Newbern Nut Shell, introduced of the Elizabeth City Economist, the orator of the occasion, who delivered a fine address on the "Power of the Press," with graceful tributes to some of North Carolina's prominent journalists, beginning with the venerable Joseph Gales, and winding up with the President of the Association, Dossey Battle, Esq.

After the oration Mr. Green, of the Durham Tobacco Plant, with an appropriate tribute to the ladies of North Carolina, introduced who, thanks to the perfect quiet of the audience, was able to make herself heard to the furthest corner of the hall; after which we left the feast of reason and flow of rhyme for the dining hall, where an elegant collation was spread on several tables, all of which were served by young ladies, prettily dressed in caps and aprons, who handed first button hole bouquets; and then ice cream, cake and lemonade. The hall, which was a large one and nearly on the level with the ground, was filled to its utmost capacity; for editors, if they don't enjoy a feast of reason, do most heartily enjoy a feast of good viands—particularly when served as this was. All were gallantly doing their duty, when,

A CRASH WAS HEARD,

and a cry that the floor was giving way. "No, its the ceiling!" "No, its fire!" And with that cry a stampede commenced. The windows, which were down and illuminated by rows of candles, were some of them thrown up and others smashed, sash and all, outward; and ladies and children were hurriedly dragged, pulled and pushed out, some screaming, some crying, some fainting. The only real danger was that some of the light dresses might catch fire from the candles precipitated on the floor and on the ground outside. But fortunately no harm was done. Being with Col. Creecy, who not long since broke his leg and is still on crutches, I knew it was safest for us to keep still near the wall, where we were seated, as he could neither stand himself in the crush nor protect me. As I really felt no fear of anything but being crushed by the rush, and was out of that danger, I could look around and note the effect of the panic on others. One young brother of the Press had both arms around a pretty girl begging and imploring her to stand still, but she did not seem to appreciate the situation as much as he did. Another stalwart, strong-armed gentleman picked his lady up bodily and held her closely clasped to his heart, but of course the press was such he could not move on, though he did earnestly entreat her to give herself up to him, assuring her he would like Mrs. Micawber, "never desert her."

The panic was short-lived, and order was soon restored, when it was found that the floor which had given away could not possibly sink more than six inches, and at half past twelve, when I left, they were earnestly discussing the ice cream as cool as possible.

The first feature of to-day was the taking of all our likenesses in front of the Eagle Hotel by a photographer, who had great difficulty in getting any ugly men to fill up his back ground. It was such a good looking crowd that he suffered from "an embarrassment of riches," as the French say. I have not seen the picture yet, so cannot tell you the result.

At ten the association met in the court house, when Mr. Battle was by acclamation unanimously re-elected President. He responded in a happy speech, stating he was opposed to any monopolies, and especially to one of chin, and would therefore say nothing at present, though it was evident that like the Frenchman's owl, which he supposed to be a parrot, that if he did not talk, he did a vast amount of thinking. Messrs. Creecy, Goslin, and Green, of Durham, were elected Vice Presidents. Capt. Ashe of the Raleigh Observer was by acclamation elected orator for the next meeting, and on motion of Mr. Creecy, Mrs. Thomas Cooper Ferebee was nominated as the poet. As it was uncertain whether Mrs. Ferebee would accept, Mr. Creecy was appointed to inform her of her election, and report her answer to the executive committee, who, should she decline, were authorized to make another selection.

On motion of Mr. Furman, the constitution was amended by a two-thirds vote, and the office of Chaplain created, and the Rev. F. H. Wood, of the Durham Advance, elected to fill it. Messrs. Davis, of the Oxford Torchlight, and Harper, of the Kinston Journal, Robinson, of the Winston Leader, London, of the Chatham Record, and Edwards, of the Biblical Recorder, were elected as the Executive Committee. After which Mr. Enniss, of the North Carolina Farmer, proposed that some one be appointed to write a history of journalism in North Carolina, to be read at the next meeting. Mr. Kingsbury, of the Wilmington Star, was first nominated, when, in a very handsome speech, in which he paid a well deserved tribute to his ability to perform the duty, Mr. Furman nominated William W. Holden. He was warmly seconded by President Battle, who, putting Mr. Creecy in the chair, took the floor and spoke for five minutes in favor of Mr. Holden's election, which, Mr. Kingsbury's name having been withdrawn, was unanimous. Mr. Battle urged the election of Mr. Holden on the ground of his thorough knowledge of the subject and the purity of his English. Mr. Kingsbury, he said, he knew from personal knowledge had not the time to give to the preparation of so important a paper, though fully competent to perform the task.

The secretary having read a letter from the Mayor of Winston, inviting the Association to hold their next meeting at that place, it was decided to do so.

Just before the close of the proceedings Capt. Abbey, of the Revenue cutter Stevens, entered the hall to represent the Newbernian and was presented by Mr. Clement Manly, and in consideration of his not having stopped even at his hotel on his way from the train was excused from making a speech, to the great regret of some of the members.

This afternoon we are to view the scenery of Buncombe. M. B. C.

Among the Scientists.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

ASHEVILLE, June 30.

EDITOR NEWS:—I had the pleasure this morning of being introduced, by Gen. Clingman, to Professor Wilcox, of Philadelphia, who is on one of his geological trips through the mountains, accompanied by a party of scientific gentlemen, among whom is Professor Thomas Meehan, vice-President of the Academy of Natural Science at Philadelphia, whose papers on botany are so well known to the readers of the Popular Science Monthly. Professor Porter is also of the party, but not being well, is not out to-day.

My State pride was gratified to hear from Professor Meehan, who makes trees, and particularly coniferous ones, a specialty, that North Carolina is regarded by botanists as one of the most interesting portions of the United States. Colorado, and the Rocky Mountains generally, though grander and bolder in scenery, are not, he tells me, either so beautiful as our mountains or covered with such a variety of flora. The pioneers of the science in this country were always anxious to get to Western Carolina, and one of them, a Mr. Lyon, lies buried in the cemetery of this place, having died here in 1830.

Professor Porter was the discoverer of the Japanese clover, of which mention was made not long since in THE NEWS, as having first appeared in this section shortly after Stoneman's raid, and Professor Meehan thinks that if Stoneman did bring it, he conferred a boon on the country that ought to obliterate the memory of all the ills that followed his footsteps. It was first found in small quantities by Professor Porter, in Georgia, and has since spread rapidly, and is a most valuable forage plant, growing so thick that one acre will produce as much hay as two of the red clover. M. B. C.

GUILFORD NOTES:—

Greensboro, July 1.—The past three days brought glorious showers, which were much needed. The rain was general.

For the past season W. S. Moore and Houston Brothers bought 274,851 rabbit skins, or 22,904 dozens, 1,022 coon, 7,566 opossum, 59 cat, 280 fox, 31 skunk, 5 beaver, 1,826 mink, 38 otter, 8,114 muskrat, costing $11,064.44. Now if there is any city, town or county that can beat this, let them speak out.

There has been a marked increase in deaths amongst the old people of the county in the last few weeks, some as old as 90 odd years; amongst whom I'll mention Col. John Scott, father of the late Col. W. L. Scott and Levi M. Scott, a prominent lawyer and wealthy citizen of Greensboro, which occurred last week, aged about 80 years.

Last Sabbath morning Dr. J. H. Smith gave notice that he would, at night, discourse on the text as found in the 20th chapter and 6th verse of Exodus, viz.: If fire be kindled, so that it break out and destroy the standing corn, he that kindled the fire shall surely make restitution. At the same time saying that from what he had learned, the fires were breaking out in our midst. (Meaning the opening, by license, of six bar-rooms in one part of Greensboro.) His sermon was a masterly effort.

A grand Hancock and Jarvis ratification meeting was held at the court-house last night, and the spirit of 1876 was exhibited in the very large crowd assembled. The meeting was presided over by Wm. Love, the last president of the old Tilden and Vance Club, which, by the way, never went out of existence, and is re-organized to carry Hancock and Jarvis on to victory. Col. Staples, Gen. A. M. Scales, James T. Morehead, G. H. Gregory and L. M. Scott made glorious speeches.

DURHAM DARK DOINGS:—

Durham, N. C. July 2, 1880.—Though Durham is not as large a place as some others in the State, yet we can chronicle large results from one nights depredations.

On Wednesday night the beef stall of Jones, (col.) on Mangum street was broken open, and finding nothing to take, but his knives, the thieves secured those and then used them in prizing open the window of the next door neighbor, Smith, (also col.) from whom they secured candy, cakes, raisins, prize boxes, &c., to the amount of $15.00. Still not satisfied they came on Main Street and removed from the sash a piece of tin, in the front window, under which Chavis (col.), the proprietor, was sleeping, and after taking nearly all out of the window, reached in and secured his pants and rifled his pockets of some $5.00. Elated at their success they go up the street to Messrs. Lyon & Gammon's and smash in one of the large glasses and take out a good many valuable articles, such as trimmings, suspenders, hose, shoes, &c., amounting to thirty-odd dollars worth.

This breaking in for the last month or so has been a weekly occurrence, and it is high time for action.

We were again visited last evening with delightful showers, and the prospects are that we are to have more. It is needed and we are glad to see it. O.

FAYETTEVILLE POLITICS:—

Fayetteville, July 1.—A Hancock and Jarvis Club was formed here last night, and several good speeches made. If we are organized as we ought to be, Cumberland will give a decided blow to Radicalism. Shackelford is the man for the people, and will be elected to Congress in November by a big vote.

Noath Caro[illegible] at Cincinnati.

[From the Reid[illegible] Times.]

The "Old North Sta[illegible] was the moving power towards the [illegible]mination of Hancock. On the first [illegible]Hot Tuesday evening she gave Hancock [illegible] Bayard 8, and scattering 3. As soon [illegible] she voted an Illinois delegate approached [illegible]e delegation and said to Col. Tom Ruffin:

"Are you all in earnest [illegible]bout Hancock?"

"Never more so in our live[illegible]," said Ruffin, "we will surely go solid or give as much as 15 for him on next ballot."

"Well," said Illinois, "I thought maybe you had some scheme in view, but if you intend to stick, we'll come to you."

"We shall stick to Hancock as long as he's up," said Ruffin.

That night there was no caucusing, and Ruffin went to Hancock's headquarters. He advised them to send a committee of Northern men to every Southern delegation, "for so far as North Carolina is concerned, we are solid for Hancock," and let this committee tell of Hancock's strength in the North, and they did so. And sure enough Illinois stood up to the old North State; both plumped solid. The North Carolina delegation won much remark for their manly and dignified behavior, and the dead, steady shot they made in casting their votes had its effect. General Preston, of Kentucky, said to Col. Ruffin he had been observing the conservative manner in which they had voted and it had not been without effect on his own delegation. But when Judge Hoadley got to shuffling the hoe down there was one tar heel delegate who just before had been crying for order that found himself setting to the Judge in the most approved only plantation break down style. After the nomination some of the Kellyites left the hall and got thoroughly soaked, and re-entered in single file singing "Glory Hallelujah." Si Watson was much pleased with Voorhees as a speaker, also with Breckinridge, of Kentucky, and Governor Hubbard, of Texas. The old Governor is red faced, a man of tremendous frame and with the voice of a lion.

Soldier Candidates.

[Gen. Clingman's Asheville Speech.]

It has been objected by some that as Gen. Hancock was a military man, he ought not to be taken. But while now and then you may hear this objection, in fact military men have usually made the best candidates. But for Washington's eminent military services it is not probable that he ever would have been President, and it is certain neither Andrew Jackson, nor Wm. Henry Harrison, nor Zachary Taylor, nor Franklin Pierce nor Ulysses Grant would ever have been elevated to the Presidential office but for their services during the wars. While Hancock's conduct in the field was surpassed by that of no one else, his bearing when civil duties have devolved upon him has always been such as to afford assurances that he will not disappoint the expectations of his countrymen when elevated to the Presidency.

He will not only poll the full Democratic strength everywhere, but fair-minded men in all parts of the Union will give him their support. I look for his election by such a majority as those which carried Harrison and Pierce into office. When there, I believe he will so administer the government as to insure peace, prosperity and happiness to our common country.

Gen. J. M. Leach.

[From the Statesville Landmark.]

The nomination of Gen. J. M. Leach for one of the electors for the State at large on the Democratic ticket, revives the recollection of an opinion expressed of him many years ago by a prominent citizen of Iredell, yet living. Leach and Scales were then the candidates for Congress in this district, and on one occasion met at Statesville in joint debate. Two farmers, neighbors, one a strong Whig, the other a devoted Democrat, rode to town together to hear the speeches. The Democrat had never heard Leach speak; the Whig had. The two returned home together, and after they had ridden some distance in silence, the Whig thus addressed his companion: "Well, colonel, what do you think of Leach?" "Ah!" returned the Democrat, after a moment's pause, thoughtfully, and with dejection in his voice, "he's a jumping coulter; if he can't break a root he'll jump it."

The Man and the Time Met.

[Gen. Clingman at Asheville.]

Hancock is now placed before the country at the right time to win, and he is in all respects a firstrate man. He is not only in the foremost ranks of military men but he is also possessed of great general information, good judgment, and has a mind admirably balanced. In his action and general bearing he reminds me more of Washington than any man I have known. His recognition of the paramount obligation of the constitution, of the laws, and of civil government for the country, placed him far above such satraps as Phil. Sheridan and others who regard civil magistrates and citizens as mere "banditti."

Gen. Hancock, too, has had in the past no complications requiring defences, and is under no obligations to any political or corporation rings, and will feel perfectly free to choose the best men for all public offices. In fact, he is just such a candidate as fair-minded men of the republican party can take up. Only a few days ago a republican ex-Senator who was, when in office, an extreme partisan, told me in the streets of Washington that if we would nominate Hancock he would support him. This very evening a man who has been as active and influential as any republican on this side of the Blue Ridge, said to me that he would not drink Garbroth. When I was a boy I used to hear persons say, when they wished to be as emphatic as possible in denouncing a man, that he was "as mean as Garbroth."

Mrs. Keiser asked her cousin, Will Zeigler of Canton, Ohio, to marry her. He urged various objections, among which were their relationship, that he did not love her, and that she already had a husband. She was a beautiful woman, and her argument was that he ought to be glad to get her as a wife on any terms. Getting desperate over his continued refusal, she secreted herself in his room and shot him when he entered. Then she killed herself. Zeigler will recover.

Murder and the Weather.

[New York Herald.]

Two murders, almost alike in most of their details, were reported early this week. In both cases the supposed murderers are said to have been drinking considerable liquor, the effect of which upon people of every sort is to provoke to abnormal action. There may be times when such a result is desirable, but that time is not midnight, particularly if the liquor is bad, the season unusually hot, and the individual desiring to drink is, according to the slang of his set, "full of the devil" before he drinks at all. Ordinarily out of door air is a physical safety valve; it rolls the human physique of superfluous heat and makes even a bad tempered man, if sober, cross the street rather than get into trouble with some other man. In very hot weather, however, when the air is at blood heat, the best of people are likely to be bad tempered, unless they have work or exercise in which to consume superfluous vitality. To drink spirits at such times will make a murderer of any man who has an ordinary supply of blood and nerve, particularly if he, like most of the men of whom murderers are made, neglects the bathtub and other preservers of health so persistently that his only relief comes from acts of physical violence.

Religious Oddities.

[From the New York Times.]

Almost everybody at all interested in irregular theology, of which there has been and still is so much in civilization, has heard of the Agapemone or Abode of Love, a queer conventual establishment, founded thirty odd years ago, by Henry James Prince, at Charlynch, near Bridgewater, England. The inmates of the Agapemone belong to a sect sometimes called Lampeter Brethren from the place where Prince was educated, and where, while a student, he formed a revival society. Adherents of the sect, of whom there are many in the south-western counties of England, are generally known as Princeites or Starkeyites, after a clergyman, Samuel Starkey, who co-operated with Prince in inventing this peculiar form of religion. Prince was born at Bath, and studied medicine, but being of an evangelico-mystical turn soon decided to be a preacher. At Lampeter, where his reputation for piety and learning was high, he began to talk of himself as inspired, showing the tendency of his erratic mind. After quitting college, he became curate of Charlynch, and preached so extraordinary sermons as alarmed his Bishop, whereupon he went to Stoke, in Suffolk. The promulgation of his fantastic opinions there created a tumult, and led to his dismissal. He and Starkey and other Lampeter brothers withdrew from the Church and set up a creed of their own. Their sermons drew crowds, many people, especially farmers, accepting their doctrines, and bringing their wealth, as in apostolic times, to Brother Prince for the benefit of the holy cause. Money rapidly accumulated, and Prince and two of the brethren married three handsome and accomplished sisters, daughters of a rich widow, who had become infatuated with their teachings. Prince purchased a fine property near Charlynch, where the brethren and sisters have lived in luxury for the last twenty years. Prince pretends (he is alive, or was at last accounts, although 78 years old,) that his mission is to redeem the body, while Jesus Christ was to redeem the soul; that Christ has selected him to conclude the Day of Grace and introduce the Day of Judgment. Letters addressed to him as "The Lord" pass through the post, and many of his followers have been heard to call him their Creator. He has driven about London and through the parks, attended constantly by outriders going bareheaded because they believe themselves in the presence of the Lord. The inmates of the Agapemone, although married, bear no children. No accurate table of the number of divorces produced by the same cause has been made, but the fact that about two-thirds of all the divorced men in the State of Illinois are one-eyed gives us some idea of the extent to which the parasol in the hands of a wife objectionably small ruins the peace of families.

Major John Strother and Capt. Manly Brown quarrelled at Warrenton, Va., until they were angry enough to desire a duel. A meeting was arranged for the following day. The principals and seconds were promptly on the ground; but the Major declared that he had no weapon. This caused delay, and at length a pistol fell out of his pocket. Thereupon the Captain accused him of seeking to avoid a fight. The Major resented the charge with a blow, and a hard fight with fists ensued, the Major being whipped and honor satisfied.

The first authenticated case of Asiatic cholera this season is reported from Kingston, N. Y. It is early for this fell disease to make its appearance. Usually, it comes in with watermelons and green corn. It is of undoubted Asiatic origin, because the above named delicacies are not Asiatic.

Inconvenience of Small Wives.

[New York Times.]

When a wife and her husband the proper proportional height, this is not an evil of very much consequence, but when the small wife carries a parasol and walks by the side of her husband the ribs of the parasol are brought to a level with his eyes, and the latter are in imminent danger. This leads to disasters, and ultimately estranges husband and wife from one another. A husband has had one eye totally destroyed and the other seriously injured, and is usually ready, no matter how much he may have loved his small wife, to declare that henceforth she must choose between him and her parasol. Of course, she cannot, with any self-respect, give up the latter, and thus two hearts that originally beat as one are sundered forever and beat in solitude and grief.

Few people have any idea of the amount of eyes that are annually ruined by the parasols of small wives. In the year 1879, it is estimated that in the United States alone two hundred and sixty eyes were totally put out, and seven hundred and nine were more or less injured. No accurate table of the number of divorces produced by the same cause has been made, but the fact that about two-thirds of all the divorced men in the State of Illinois are one-eyed gives us some idea of the extent to which the parasol in the hands of a wife objectionably small ruins the peace of families.

LIST YOUR PURCHASES.—This is the time for merchants, dealers in cotton, dealers in spiritous, vinous or malt liquors, proprietors of hotels, boarding houses, restaurants and eating houses, keepers of horses or mules for hire, auctioneers and commission merchants, to deliver or return to the Register of Deeds a true and exact statement of the amount of purchases made by each, as principal or agent, or through an agent or commission merchant, for the six months ending the 30th day of June, 1880. The amount of purchases both in and out of the State must be included in the return, and it is hoped dealers will keep the sum paid for liquors separate from that paid for goods, wares and merchandise. Auctioneers and commission merchants will give in the gross amount of commissions on sales; hotels, &c., gross receipts; keepers of horses or mules, the number for hire. The law makes failure to list a misdemeanor. Many privilege licenses expired on the 14th of last March, and these licenses are constantly expiring, being good for one year only. Renew, and keep the prosecuting officer away.

QUIT THE HUNT.—Yesterday in the Superior Court, Bragg Adkins was found guilty of an affray. Bragg was in Court while the case was being tried, was in court when the jury retired to consult as to their verdict and was in Court when the verdict of guilty was returned. But when the verdict was returned and Bragg was called for to receive sentence he was not to be found. No one saw him quit the Court House, all that is known is that he did not answer when called for sentence and about the time the sheriff came out to hunt for him a noise as of some one crossing Walnut Creek bridge in a hurry was borne on the summer air.

WET.—Thursday night or rather Friday morning about 1 o'clock it began to rain and from then until some time after 2 about as hard a rain fell in Raleigh as ever fell anywhere or at any time. The gullies were transformed from streaks of dust to roaring torrents. The water was knee deep on the sidewalk in front of Battle & Mordecai's law-office. In the northern part of the city considerable hail fell. We are sorry to learn that the rain was not general. At Mr. W. H. Holleman's three miles south east of Raleigh not a drop fell.

WAKE SUPERIOR COURT.—Court met at 9 o'clock yesterday. his Honor Judge J. C. L. Gudger presiding. The following business was disposed of:

State vs. Bragg Adkins and Charlotte Jackson; affray. Verdict, Adkins guilty, Jackson not guilty. Judgment reserved.

State vs. Peter Blume, removing crop. Verdict, not guilty.

State vs. Frank Jones and James Warren; selling liquor on Sunday. Defendants plead guilty. Judgment suspended on payment of costs.

State vs. Bunny Sorrell; assault and battery. Nol pros., with leave.

State vs. Temple Watson; larceny and receiving. Nol pros.

State vs. Silas Guest; assault and battery. Case given to the jury, after which Court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

OUR WATER SUPPLY.—We learn from the report of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department that of the eleven fire cisterns three are empty, four are about half full, and the remaining four full. This is a sad condition of affairs in case of a fire of any magnitude. But we are glad to know that the Board will purchase a double cylinder chemical engine.

The Weldon News gives a good account of Halifax crops. Cotton has suffered not at all and corn very little from drought.

What North Carolinians are Doing.

GLEANINGS FROM STATE EXCHANGES.

The Mooresville Gazette says the tax returns show an increase in that township from $351,808 in 1879 to $378,943 in 1880.

The Charlotte Democrat quotes corn at 70; meal 70; peas 70; bacon 7¾ to 8; butter 20; chickens 12½ to 16; eggs 10; beef 6 to 15.

Edgecombe's wheat crop, the Southerner says, is unusually fine. Three white and six colored couples made June's matrimonial harvest.

The Salisbury Watchman mentions much damage to crops, fences and fruit by the storm on Tuesday. Lenoir suffered on the same day.

The Louisburg Times of the 1st announces the death, on the 30th ult., of Mr. John G. King, one of Franklin's oldest and most respected citizens.

The Charlotte Observer says that Mecklenburg's cotton crop continues to be very promising. Paw Creek township will raise more than the whole county did before the war.

The Salem Press says that Daniel Spaugh, of Friedberg, has a cow which gives six gallons of milk a day. She has to be milked three times each day, morning, noon and night. She is a common, ordinary looking cow, and is not unusually fed.

Kinston's population is 1,217, after putting outside corporate limits 500 more; against 1,100 in 1870. The Journal says there are 286 families and 235 residences; and of the 1,217 inhabitants 706 are white and 511 are colored. The year's deaths were 18.

The Charlotte Democrat says that "crops in this part of the State, generally, are good. A few localities have suffered for rain, and some sections injured by storms of wind, but upon the whole the prospect is good, and farmers are far advanced with their work."

The Quaker Bridge Road, now in construction by convicts, passes through 80,000 acres of State Literary Board swamp land, and the Kinston Journal suggests that the State should place 100 convicts at work on it ditching and clearing. If a portion is put in good condition actual settlers will soon seek this rich soil for permanent homes.

The Economist reports Pasquotank crops better than in any year since the war; its children the healthiest and prettiest, and its native hogs the best that root. Washington's times are dull, but its crops lively. Dare's crops good, and its drum fish carry about on their insides live terrapins 5 by 3½ inches. Tyrrell has good corn and cotton crops and fine seasons.

We regret to learn from the Weldon News that Richard Baker, aged 14, son of Gen. L. S. Baker, now of Suffolk, was drowned Saturday afternoon while bathing in Nansemond river at Suffolk. He dived from a raft and it is supposed the current carried him under a schooner which was lying near. His body was recovered about fifty yards below the place where he dived.

The Fayetteville Banner has been over the Cape Fear and Yadkin Railroad and learns that "notwithstanding much time is lost on account of sickness among the prisoners, the work on the road is progressing rapidly and that in all probability the whole line of road will be completed to Greensboro this year. Much rock has been encountered that the engineers did not expect to find, and hence, longer time than was anticipated will be required to complete the work."

Dr. A. M. Powell of Catawba tells the Lenoir Topic that he is now manufacturing a handsome cotton plaid, and has both factories running on full time, and cannot supply the demand, as large orders have recently been received from Europe for his goods. He is constantly adding new machinery. On inquiry in regard to getting his supply of cotton, he says there is enough raised within the sound of his factory bells to keep his machinery going; that, Catawba county will make 10,000 bales of cotton this year.

The Gulf (Chatham), since the Railroad Company located a depot there, has improved wonderfully, says the Fayetteville Banner. "Hitherto there was only one store, now there are five or six, and every house seems to be doing a splendid business. The Gulf boasts of two hotels, one foundry and a carriage manufactory, one gun shop, one silver-smith establishment, one confectionery, four dry goods and grocery houses, and flour and grist mills. Mr. Edgar Haughton is working the coal mines and with two horses and three or four negro men excavates an average of about three tons per day, for which he finds ready sale at $4.00 per ton."

Archibald H. Henderson, Esq., son of the late Judge Archibald Henderson, and father of John S. Henderson, Esq., died at Salisbury on Monday last. Although a man of high intelligence and excellent judgment, says the Watchman, "he constantly declined to enter public life. Though a lover of home and its quiet, social enjoyments, he was a close observer of current political events, and was frequently consulted on matters of public policy. Few men held clearer views of public affairs; and true to the instincts of high intelligence and culture, fewer still were more respectful and tolerant of the opinions of others. The death of this valued citizen is like the removal of a well known landmark, which leaves a void which will be felt. Mr. Henderson was in his 70th year."

The Fayetteville Banner says that "near Mount Vernon Springs, Chatham, may be found the notable iron mines, which have in past years been successfully operated but are now lying idle awaiting the operations of capitalists. All necessary machinery is there, and $2,000 or $2,500 would put the whole business in operation. In some places the ore is imbedded in continuous veins from 50 to 90 feet in diameter and will yield 50 per cent. of iron. Mr. Sam. Wiley of Salisbury is the owner, and would like to dispose of the property. When the iron is laid on the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railway, the depot at Ore Hill will be located within 200 yards of the furnace and main shaft, and the transportation of the iron and ore will be convenient and the charges reasonable."

Work was begun on the Duplin Canal on April 1, and interrupted for six weeks by legal proceedings. Notwithstanding this, the Wilmington Review says that the canal way has been opened sixty feet wide, and the sluice way cut for one and a quarter miles, and three tide water creeks effectually dammed, extending from the North East river across one end of Holly Shelter Creek and within a short distance of the second bend. The engineer is now ready to turn the water into the sluice way as soon as sufficient headway is obtained; and, if favorable water continues, the prospects are flattering for obtaining a navigable channel speedily, provided the efforts of the directors are cordially seconded by the stockholders. The section cut through is thought to be the most difficult on the route, being heavily timbered and having less fall of water. It was determined to devote every energy to this section in order to test the practicabilty of the sluicing process, and to this end it was ordered that an assessment of five per cent. on the stock should be collected each month."

The A. T. & O. Railroad Company had its annual meeting at Charlotte on Thursday. The Observer says that the report of the Superintendent shows that the total earnings for the year were $39,926.99, derived as follows: From freight, $25,159.93; from passengers, $12,215.50; from United States mail, $1,865.19; other sources, $686.37. The total expenses were $27,238.27, distributed as follows: Transportation, $12,832.09; maintenance of way, $10,877.03; salary, $2,500; subsistence, $982.83; loss and damage, $29.82; stock killed, $16.50. Excess of receipts over expenditures, $12,688.72. The business of the road for the year shows an increase of $1,854.55 in freight earnings, and a decrease in passenger earnings of $1,335.36, as compared with the previous year. The rolling stock and road-bed are described as being in fair condition. The old Board of Directors was unanimously re-elected, and unanimously re-elected Col. W. R. Myers President, and J. J. Gormley Superintendent, Secretary and Treasurer.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS:—

No more applications for arrearages of pensions can be received. In anticipation of this the number of applications in the last three days of June was enormous, reaching at least 50,000.

The total gold coinage at the United States mints during June amounted to $4,739,840; silver, $2,011,925; during the fiscal year, gold, $56,157,735; silver, $27,943,437.50; minor coins, $267,741.50.

A Constantinople despatch says the famine continues in the districts of Bayazid, Alashgerd and Van, and the inhabitants are flying to Russian territory. Ten thousand persons, chiefly Kurds, are reported to have perished from hunger.

News received from Peru, via Panama, confirms the intelligence of the capture of Tacna, Peru, by the Chilians, and reports the commencement of the attack on Arica. The Chilians lost 4,000 men and the allies 6,000 at Tacna. Col. Camacho, Col. McLean and Gen. Perz are among the superior officers of the allies killed.

Dr. Tanner, up to 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had completed 74 hours of his feat in New York of fasting 40 days. His pulse was about 48, temperature of his body 98½. He took six ounces of water yesterday morning. He was cheerful and showed no distress last night. He drank no water, and merely gargled his throat occasionally.

James Johnson, colored, was indicted by the Louisville (Ky.) grand jury for carrying concealed weapons. On a motion to set aside the indictment because the grand jury was composed exclusively of white persons, the court decides that so much of the State law as excludes all persons other than white men from jury service is unconstitutional.

Advices from El Paso to June 23 state that Victorio's band of Apaches had attacked San Lorenzo and Governor Louis Terrasa's ranche, in Mexico, shooting over 100 head of horses; then raided Santa Clare, where they captured 100 horses. They killed several Mexicans at each place. Governor Terrasa, with about 200 federal Mexican soldiers, is on their trail. The Indians are expected to retreat into New Mexico, and United States troops are being rapidly disposed for their reception.

Gen. Hancock having expressed a desire to call informally upon Gov. Tilden, the General met Senator Wallace, of Pennsylvania, Gen. Franklin, of Connecticut, and Mr. Henry Watterson, of Kentucky, on Wednesday, at the Gilsey House, by appointment, whence the party repaired to the well-known mansion in Gramercy Park, and were received and entertained by Gov. Tilden with cordial hospitality. Gen. Hancock and Mr. Tilden had a protracted and agreeable interview, and in taking his leave, Gen. Hancock accepted an invitation to pay an early visit to Greystone. The feeling between the two is represented to be exceedingly cordial. No one was present except the gentlemen named, and the intercourse was unceremonious and unrestrained.

The Chinese and the Californians are running a regular line of law-suits growing out of late anti-Chinese legislation. California wishes the heathen to go and the heathen won't. The last suit is about fishing, and the State is beaten. A party of festive Mongolian sports, consisting of Ah Chong, Wong Hoy, Ah You, Foo Hoy, Foo Hee and Ah Mee, went gleefully with rod and bait to the tempting waters of San Pablo Bay in jubilant anticipation of pleasure or profit, or both. How many and what kind of the unsuspecting finny tribe they caught we are not informed, but the report leaves no doubt that at least six of the guileless sportsmen were caught. They were promptly tried and, of course, convicted and imprisoned for grossly violating the law, passed as recently as April 23, 1880, that "All aliens incapable of becoming electors of this State are hereby prohibited from fishing, or taking any fish, lobsters, shrimps or shellfish of any kind for the purpose of selling or giving to any other person to sell." A heavy fine and imprisonment were the prescribed penalties of violating the act. The fishermen reached the United States Circuit Court by means of a writ of habeas corpus, and there took the ground that the law of the land under which they had been seized for alleged wrongs done on the waters of the State was not constitutional. This position is sustained by the court, which holds that both the statute and the clause of the California constitution are unconstitutional.

The New Asiatic War.

Dispatches to the London Times from Cabul, June 29, say that Russian troops were defeated by Chinese at Terek Pass, and were pursued and again defeated at Kizelkurghan, losing much ammunition and supplies. The Chinese have reached Kulja.

Though war has been expected, its coming, and from the Chinese, is a surprise. The quarrel is about the province of Kulja. This province, adjacent to Russian Siberia, revolted from the Chinese dominion some ten years ago, when the Mohammedans of Kashgaria set up a kingdom under Yakub Beg, the "Atalik Ghazi," and when the Mohammedan Dunganis, north of the Desert of Kobi, also threw off the yoke of the Central Flowery Kingdom. As China was then in no condition to enforce her claims, Russia, like a good neighbor, kindly offered to occupy Kulja and hold it for China until the latter power should be able to assert her dominion in Sungaria and Kashgaria. This she did three years ago, suppressing the Dungani insurrection, capturing Yarkand and Kashgar and killing the "Atalik Ghazi." Russia was then requested to evacuate Kulja, as per agreement, China offering to pay a reasonable indemnity for the expenses of occupation. But Russia, which had converted Ili and Kulja into an appanage of Turkestan, had built up a flourishing commerce and introduced "Western civilization," a la Russe, had no idea of relinquishing her hold upon that important province, which her statesmen and geographers were fond of considering as but the entering wedge to further encroachments upon the outlying Chinese territories, which were supposed to be ripe for revolt. The recuperation of Chinese military power, as demonstrated in Kashgaria, took Russia completely by surprise, and for three years she has been trying hard to find some valid pretext for declining to restore Kulja. The mission of the Chinese plenipotentiary, Chung How, to Russia, last year, was expressly for the purpose of making a peremptory demand for Kulja. But Chung How proved no match for Muscovite diplomacy, and was inveigled into signing the treaty of Livadia, by which Russia restored only the least valuable part of Kulja, on promise of a large indemnity. Returning to China the unfortunate Chung How was condemned to be beheaded, and his fate still trembles in the balance, despite the efforts of European Ministers in China. The Dragon Throne prepared for war, and has now proved to be terribly in earnest. The issue is by no means so obvious as the optimists at St. Petersburg represent. China can vastly outnumber Russia at any given point in Central Asia, her armies are equipped with all the latest improvements in artillery and count a large number of European officers.

Pay for the Marshals.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Attorney-Gen. Devens is quite hopeful notwithstanding the failure of the democrats in Congress to appropriate money to pay the expenses of special deputy marshals or elections. He says the Department of Justice has become so much accustomed to conduct its operations without money that it does not mind it at all. The department has, however, just now plenty of money for all its really necessary and legitimate expenses, as prior to the adjournment Congress made the most liberal appropriations, merely stipulating that no part of the money should be used to pay the expenses of the partisan marshals. The Attorney-General intimated very plainly that as many if not more deputy marshals would be appointed at the presidential and congressional election in November next as has heretofore been the case. Through one way and another they have always managed to get their pay, although for four years Congress has made no specific appropriation for that purpose, and as the Attorney-General infers, there will be no trouble in securing the services of as many as the needs of the republican party may seem to demand. He says if they cannot get it before they will be sure to be paid when the republican once more obtain control of Congress.

The Civil Service.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Following up his discharge of fifty of the appointees of Commissioner of Internal Revenue Raum, Secretary Sherman has issued an order taking into his own hands the removal and appointment of all the employes in the internal revenue service. The effect of this is to make the commissioner a mere clerk, and the object, of course, is to render his position as uncomfortable as possible. Mr. Raum takes the matter very philosophically, and says it is not for him to impute any ulterior motives to the Secretary. But he knows, as every one else here knows, that the Secretary is still very sore because he went to Chicago and did everything he could against him and for Grant.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued a circular to collectors of internal revenue directing that hereafter applications for appointments of gaugers, storekeepers and tobacco inspectors of the internal revenue service must be made to him.

The Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The public debt statement of the month, according to the report of the Secretary of the Treasury to-day, shows a reduction of $10,214,424.51. The reduction is much larger apparently than is in reality due to the operations of this month. By an act of Congress June 2, 1879, $8,375,934 of the fund for the redemption of fractional currency was directed to be applied to the pension fund, on supposition that that amount of fractional currency had been destroyed and would never be presented for redemption, and now that amount is simply subtracted from the debt statement. Taking this out of the reduction, as it appears, and there is only left $1,838,490.51 as the actual debt reduction for the month of June.

Virginia Politics.

[Special dispatch to the N. Y. Evening Post]

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The following is the estimate by a Virginia Democrat of the prospects of that party in the State, taking into consideration the defection of the readjusters. There are 250,000 votes in Virginia. The Republicans at the last election cast 100,000. It is expected this year that their vote will be redu[ced] 75,000 on account of the cap[itation tax] which many negroes decline to pay. It is estimated that the readjusters will cast at least 25,000 votes for their ticket, but that the straight Democrats will have a plurality over all of 100,000. The Readjusters have prepared a ticket which may cause some confusion. It has Hancock and English at the head, but will have an entirely different set of Presidential electors from those on the regular Democratic ticket.

Old-Time Elections.

[New York Journal of Commerce.]

NEW YORK, June 25, 1880.—Will you please inform me whether it has ever happened that we have had a Republican President and Democratic Vice-President, or vice versa?

Reply.—Up to the change in the Constitution in 1804, each elector voted for two candidates for President. The one having the highest number, if a majority, was President, and the next highest Vice-President. Thus the two were very likely to be of different parties. In 1796 John Adams, who was a Federalist, received 71 electoral votes and became President; Thomas Jefferson, who was his opponent, and a Republican (answering very nearly to the present Democrat, the latter title not being used), received 68 votes and became Vice-President. There have been no such elections since the present Republicans and Democrats were pitted against each other.

A Fighting Parson.

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

Some time since the relations between pastor and congregation in a certain colored church in Michigan become so inharmonious that it became necessary to bounce one party or the other. At a church meeting the preacher was called a liar, and in return he upset a deacon with a blow on the jaw. It was decided to submit the case to Brother Gardner in the following form:

"Sposen you was a preacher of de gospil, an' de leadin' elder of your church called you a liah? Would you hit him or forgib him?"

"If dey wants my opinyun on dat case it can soon be giben," said the old man as he rose up. "If I war a preacher of de gospil an' de leadin' elder, or any odder elder, called me a liah, an' he was in dead airnest, I'd light down on him like an' elephant rolling ober a lamb! Yes, I would, an' den I'd ax him if he had any friends who wanted to see me wid my coat off an' my muscle worked up. I doan' go a cent on de man who gits such a fill of religion dat folks can make a foot-ball ob him."

Catch the Brightness as it Flies.

[San Francisco Post.]

A sculptor's wife had her husband arrested in Cincinnati the other day for assault and battery, because, as she testified, on the occasion of her going to his studio to inform him that the woman across the way had eloped, he struck her in the face with a huge mass of mud. The sculptor explained that the occasion referred to was the first time for years that he had seen a pleasant look on his wife's face, and therefore he hastened to take a clay cast of her features, so as to catch the expression for use on a bust he intended to model. The court dismissed the case.

WAITS:—

An aged mendicant with a very poor voice is singing before a house.

"What is he doing that for, pa?" asks a child of its father.

"Because he thinks people may give him a penny."

"Don't you think if he didn't sing they would be more likely to give him two?"

Voiture and Arnauld were one day amusing themselves in guessing the profession of the passers by their dress and bearing, when a carriage passed, the occupant of which was oddly attired.

Quoth Voiture, "that's a Councillor of the court of Aids."

Arnauld wagered that the passer was not, and to decide the bet, Voiture approached the carriage, and explaining to the gentleman the circumstances, asked if he were not such a functionary.

"Monsieur," said the gentleman, coldly, "go round and bet that you are an ass; you will never lose. Drive on, coachman."

The bet was decided a draw.

MACHINERY.

THE BEST PAYING INVESTMENT.

THE TALBOTT ENGINES.

More than one thousand Talbott Engines have been sold in North Carolina, and every one has given perfect satisfaction. Our Engines are pronounced by experts and engineers the very height of perfection, and when critically compared, side by side or point by point, with any other Portable Engines, the verdict is always unanimous in our favor. Notice our convenient and well-proportioned Fire Box and see for yourself that it greatly exceeds other makes in special features of advantage, hence comes easy firing, plenty of steam, even with poor fuel, and no "straining" or burning out to keep up the power. Notice the complete water front, water bottom and water sides, all around the Fire Box, by which every particle of heat is utilized. Observe the beautiful model and perfect symmetry of every part, and especially the elegant workmanship and thoroughness with which every part and piece is put together; the extra quality of every pound of material in it; its perfect safety from fire or explosion; the extra fine quality of trimmings used. In a word, go over our Engines from end to end, from top to bottom, and you will see a strictly first-class Engine, an Engine that we will guarantee to be the best sold in this country.

Purchasers cannot expect to buy first-class Engines for the same money that they can get the "Cheap John," red, green and blue engines at, but we have always found our purchasers among the intelligent class that want the BEST and are willing to pay a little more for it at the outset, than a second, third or fourth-rate engine would cost, knowing that the BEST will prove the CHEAPEST in the long run. Low price means low quality, with low performance and high repairs. Quality always descends faster than price.

All our Machinery is fully and specifically warranted, and it is not only our duty but our pleasure to make our pledges as good as coined gold. Talbott & Sons' fifty years experience and standing as manufacturers should have some weight and value with intending purchasers. Send to me descriptive circular and price list. I will sell for same price and give same terms as manufacturers.
